The surrounding tall pines and scrub oak offer a habitat for wandering deer and elk and presents a stunning sanctuary for your family and friends. The grandeur of this very special place unfolds as you enter the foyer as the vistas of Pikes Peak and the entire Front Range are framed in the floor to ceiling two story windows. Stepping onto the expansive covered outdoor terrace-an extension of the entire main floor, you will appreciate the outdoor living option that reflects your active lifestyle.

The open floor plan creates a welcoming ambiance for all family and friends who gather here, making an inviting statement of warmth and grace. From the curved staircase that was slowly shaped by hand over weeks at a time to the stunning design of the stone hearth that rises through the center of the home, each architectural element reflects an artistry and style that honors the home's surroundings.

The chef's kitchen becomes the focal point for entertaining and gathering together. The gourmet suite of appliances blends perfectly with the home's impressive use of natural stone, hardwoods and exquisite design features. The main floor includes a beautiful private study for those wishing to conduct the day's business from home as well as an extensive owner's suite-complete with its own access to the outdoor terrace. This intimate space is perfect for relaxing and rejuvenating your spirit. Completing the main floor is a formal dining room with its own butler's pantry and instills the character of a fine Tuscan estate. Throughout the entire home, skip troweled walls are finished with a rich leathered and old world charm, adding both beauty and artistry.

The second floor presents three en suite bedrooms, all opening onto a large loft area easily used as a library or gathering place. The lower walk-out level features its own terrace and patio surrounded by perennial gardens, a cascading water feature and privacy to indulge yourself in the spacious hot tub.
